

Measurement units for data presentation.
Currently I think the input from JSON log files is always metric, no matter what you have set on your device. But this is only an assumption.